Power Platform Adoption & Governance

Adoption and governance are two sides of the same coin when it comes to implementing a new technology like the Power Platform.

Adoption refers to the process of facilitating users to get to know and utilize the platform, while governance refers to the policies and procedures that ensures the platform's efficiency, and security and prevents that may introduce security risks or duplicate existing solutions.

Power Platform Governance

The goal of Cegeka's Governance program is composing an overall governance and adoption approach and an operational, tactical and strategic setup. This program contains five workshops: assessing the current landscape and maturity, defining details of specific topics (in 2 workshops), establishing a roadmap and adoption plan, and finally setting up a Center of Excellence & Monitoring.

In these workshops, we will establish governance best practices and policies for the Power Platform, such as training strategies, security risk mitigation, implementing best practices with regular audits, and managing resource costs through usage monitoring and access control.

Power Platform Adoption

Upon successfully completing a governance program, you're prepared to elevate your efforts. Utilizing your customized Governance & Adoption Roadmap from Cegeka, along with an operational, tactical, and strategic setup, you can confidently initiate the adoption process throughout your organization.

The program initiates with exploring the Power Platform's advantages and potential, progresses with gradual implementation and building productivity apps (for citizen developers) or more complex solutions (for pro developers) as the team's expertise grows, and culminates in fostering a community-centric culture of continuous learning, sharing, and improvement, including tools and reporting..

Why should you consider an Adoption & Governance program?

Some people within your organization are probably already using the Power Platform, so it's better to set up proper adoption and governance processes to ensure that these individual efforts align with the organization's overall strategy and comply with regulatory and security requirements.
